CLEARFIELD FALLING MISERABLY SHORT ON HER VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN QUOTA

What Is The Matter With Clearfield?

The results so far in the sale of Victory notes prompt the question. The solicitors are working hard but the results are discouraging to say the least. Neighboring towns are ahead of us—many of the rural districts have gone over the top, but Clearfield is lagging badly.

The German morale broke when our boys refused to retreat. Did our morale break at the same time? Because our service men handed us the victory much sooner than we had reason to expect it, are we going to refuse to pay for it? Perhaps we are Bolsheviks. The Bolsheviks don't like to pay for anything.

Some refuse to subscribe because the war is over. It is true the war is over for those who fell in battle and gave their all for us, but it is not over for us until we pay the bill and bring back home every man who went across.

The question is squarely up to us in Clearfield whether we are going to close our war activities with a failure, or continue our good record of the past loans. Our quota is $1,450,000.00. The subscription up to Saturday night were $274,150.00. The number of subscribers 1026. On the Fourth loan we made our quota $1,800,000.00 with over 8000 subscribers. Somebody is slacking. Is it you? If the honorable record of this community is to be preserved, every individual must make it his business to help put this loan across. No one has done his full duty if he can subscribe to this loan and does not. Our part is not complete until we see it through.

Don't forget also, Mr. Citizen, that if you throw your share of the loan into the banks you are helping to retard business recovery and reconstruction.

This is a plain statement of facts.

FUME TO BE MADE FREE PORT UNDER CONTROL OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS FOR PERIOD OF THREE YEARS

SECRET PLENARY SESSION TUESDAY

By ED. L. KEEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, May 5.—The Italian peace delegates are returning to Paris. This statement was made this afternoon by the Italian ambassador to France. He informed Foreign Minister Pichon that President Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino are leaving Rome tonight and will arrive here Thursday morning. At the same time it was learned that the "big three" is considering a plan for making Fiume a free port under control of the League of Nations for a period of three years during which time the Italians and Jugo-Slavs will enjoy equal commercial rights. At the expiration of the three years it is assumed that Fiume will be formally annexed to Italy.

PARIS, May 5.—While no official announcement has been made to that effect it is generally understood a formal invitation has been dispatched to the Austrian government to send its delegates to the peace conference. Preparations for their reception at St. Germain, near Versailles, were begun Saturday. Official information has been received that the Austrians probably will arrive in St. Germain a week from today. Consumation of peace with Bulgaria and Turkey, it is believed, will be undertaken probably at the same time as the settlement with Austria. The United States will not be directly concerned in either of these treaties as it was not at war with these two countries.

A PALACE FOR A TURK

PARIS, May 5.—Preparations were being made today to receive the Bulgarian and Turkish peace delegates. French officials examined the housing facilities of St. Cloud and the Bellevue hotels with the idea of establishing quarters for them in those places.

WE GOT THAT $200

Well, we got our $200 to send the service men's delegates to the American Legion convention at St. Louis, May 8-10, 1919. John W. Wrigley's contribution completed the total, and we were forced to decline $25 additional offered by five of our patriotic citizens after we had obtained the desired amount. Clearfield can always be counted upon for anything that is right.

The whole hearted and generous response to our appeal for funds to send two worthy service men to St. Louis to the initial meeting of the Legion of Honor is concrete evidence to the service men of this vicinity that they have and hold a prominent place in our affections. It is especially gratifying to note that the men selected, Guy Lawhead and Worrel Jones are upstanding men whom Clearfield is glad to honor.

A CONTRAST

The Punxsutawney Spirit, in boosting that town, stated: "Morally we are in a class by ourselves. The number of dapple, sick souls here is below par. The police station could be turned over to a missionary society and our police given a six-months vacation." The Brookville paper, in speaking of the number of prisoners in the county jail, stated that the sheriff was entertaining but one man. Jefferson county is dry.

Who can make such a claim for Clearfield County? Criminal court which begins today starts on a list of crimes that would make the East Side of New York green with envy. Almost every crime in the whole criminal category is on the list. Just how many of them are attributable to King Alcohol is a matter of debate but the cold fact remains that there is no good reason why our list should be larger than that of Jefferson county. We are situated in similar circumstances and environment—with one exception—we have the booze joints and Jefferson has not.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE

The German language has always held a high place in the higher education of the world and it was with reluctance that educators throughout the Allied nations dropped the German book which action served as a merited rebuke to the German people for their misuse and abuse of a language which owing to its richness and beauty had forged ahead and become a vehicle for the carrying of greater learning in the arts and sciences to the people of the earth. No one will deny that owing to the crimes of the German people their language should be permitted and heeded to drop into complete oblivion. No one is a champion of the German language for the mere reason that it is the language of a one time great nation nor is there anybody who is going to protect and foster it because of any sentimental reasons. Sentiment applied to anything German is unthinkable. However, the fact remains that German is still the language of millions of people, not alone in Germany but in other parts of the earth where German intrigue and machinations made great headway in commerce. Today Germany stands indicted before the world and disgraced in business. All that trade and commerce heretofore going through German channels can and will be diverted to other nations. America is a contender for this trade and it stands to reason that we cannot go into a German speaking market and sell American goods without a knowledge of German. We must beat them at their own game. Our legislature has administered a merited rebuke in passing laws forbidding the teaching of the German language in our schools but had the law been signed by our governor that state would have deprived its young people of the opportunity to fit themselves for combating German influence with their own weapons. Our governor has wisely vetoed the law. To do otherwise would have been to cut off our nose to spite our face. Pennsylvania lives by commerce and industry. Our great captains of industry and generals of commerce have come from Pennsylvania. There is no danger of anybody becoming "kultured" thru the study of the German tongue. The danger now is all for the German nation itself.

Golden Years Ahead If We All Pull Together
OUT of the shadow of the World War America emerges, facing a period of promise unparalleled in the History of Business.
There is but one more obstacle to be overcome one more gap to be bridged—the payment of the war debts. This is the purpose of the Victory Loan and, to accomplish it fully and completely, it is essential that we all pull together—that every man subscribe to the Victory Loan to the full extent to which he expects to benefit by the golden years to come.

POULTRY FACTS

CHICKS REARED IN BROODERS

No System Ideal for All Conditions—Success Depends on Individual Handling.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
More difference of opinion exists as to the value of brooding systems than in any other part of poultry rearing, which shows that no system is ideal for all conditions, but that success depends largely on individual handling and care. Many chicks which may be traced to faulty incubation or weakness in breeding stock. Successful chick raising depends primarily upon having healthy, vigorous breeding stock.

Some of the most important faults in the management of brooders are overcrowding and lack of ventilation, while the chicks fail to get sufficient exercise. The brooder should supply the proper temperature, be readily adapted to change in weather conditions, be easy to clean and well ventilated. The capacity should not be overestimated. One-half to two-thirds of the number of chickens commonly advised will do much better than a larger number. Brooders and hovers should have from one-half to two inches of sand, dry dirt, cut clover, or chaff spread over the floor, and in case they are kept in the brooder house, over the floor of this also. The hovers should be cleaned frequently, as cleanliness is essential in raising chickens successfully.

The best temperature at which to keep a brooder or hover depends upon the position of the thermometer, the style of the hover, the age of the chickens, and the weather conditions. Aim to keep the chickens comfortable. As the operator learns by the action of the chickens the amount of heat they require, he can discard the thermometer if he desires. When too cold they will crowd together and try to get nearer the heat. If it is found in the morning that the droppings are well scattered over the hover it is an indication that the chickens have had enough heat. If the chickens are comfortable at night they will be spread out under the hover with the heads of some protruding from under the hover cloth. Too much heat will cause them to pant and sit around with their mouths open.

It is impossible to state for each case at what temperature the brooders should be kept to raise young chickens; however, it will run from 90 up to 100 degrees in some cases, as some broods of chickens seem to require more heat than others, an average being 93 to 95 degrees for the first week or ten days, when the temperature is gradually reduced to 85 degrees for the following ten days, and then lowered to 70 or 75 degrees for as long as the chickens need heat. This depends somewhat on the season of the year and the number of the chickens, as it can be readily seen that the heat generated by 50 chickens would raise the temperature under the hover to a higher degree than the heat given off by a lesser number, consequently the amount of heat furnished by the lamp or stove will have to be regulated accordingly. As the chickens grow larger and need less heat the lamps may be used only at night, and later only on cold nights. The heat is usually cut off at the end of four or five weeks in March or April in the vicinity of Washington, D. C., while winter chickens have been fed for eight or ten weeks, or until they are well feathered. Care should be taken to prevent chilling or overheating the chickens, which weakens them and may result in bowel trouble.

When chickens are first put into the brooder they should be confined under or around the hover by placing a board or wire frame a few inches outside (this would not apply to the small outdoor colony brooders).

POULTRY NOTES

Ducks need the grit for their digestion just as chickens do.

Clean houses, nests, runs, drinking and feeding vessels are important.

Old hens that are not needed for breeders should be fattened and marketed.

There is still a good demand for capons, and all on hand should be marketed.

You should have tight coops for the hens and chickens to prevent rats, weasels and skunks from getting in nights and killing little chickens.

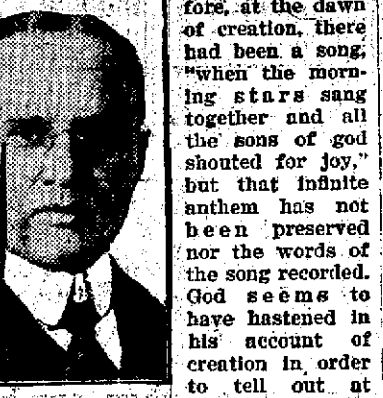

The minimum wage for women is established by law now in twelve States and in the District of Columbia.

Songs by the Sea

By REV. GEORGE GUILLE
Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord—Ex. 15:1.

The first song in the Bible! And on the wilderness side of the sea!

Long ages before, at the dawn of creation, there had been a song, "when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy," but that infinite anthem has not been preserved nor the words of the song recorded. God seems to have hastened in his account of creation in order to tell out, at length, his mighty work of redemption. He made man by his breath; he saves him by his blood. It is in what he has done for man's redemption that he is to be forever glorified, and while the symphony of the stars still rings in his ears, yet here, at the Red sea, is sweeter music for his heart than theirs, and of such delight to him that he writes down every word of it as a part of Holy Scripture.

No song had Israel in Egypt, but sighs and groans and a cry. But now they are out of Egypt and Canaan looms before their eyes. The chains of bondage were snapped on the Pass-over night when, sheltered by that all-protecting blood, the judgment that fell upon Egypt passed over them. Now their deliverance is a realization. Pursued by Pharaoh's armies, and hemmed in between the mountains and the sea, they cry out in a frenzy of despair. When to the sea divides and through it they go dry-shod and unharmed to the other side. And looking back they saw the sea that had opened to let them out of Egypt closing to shut them out and closing over their enemies. Then they sang!

The passage of the sea has put them in a wilderness, and yet they sing. And the wilderness is just what this world has become to those who know what that mighty work of the cross has done for them and who, in spirit, have seen just beyond the wilderness the heavenly Canaan to which that cross has secured an enduring title. And this song of praise from the hearts of redeemed sinners who have looked across the place of death and beheld a triumphant Savior is what our Father God is waiting still to hear.

And now can we sing, for by this way of the sea have we come into this pilgrim path with God. It is the shepherd's hand that holds that rod stretched out across the sea. And our Shepherd who giveth his life for the sheep has opened for us a safe path through his death. That "strong east wind" of adversity blowing through all that night of his anguish on the cross, where for our sins he was nailed, has cleared a way for us by which we pass out of Egypt, out of the whole sphere to which the "law of sin and death" applies. Christ's death, in all its value, is ours, and our hearts, once desolate because of sin, have now a song.

In vain does one look in this song for anything that man has done. Such a note would make an awful discord. Every word of this is the celebration of what Jehovah has done, and its first strain tells of the source of all praise: "I will sing unto Jehovah for he hath triumphed gloriously." It is this that makes melody in the heart. As Israel saw, so have we seen a triumphant Savior, and that sets the heart a-singing.

The second measure celebrates the deliverance. It was all the work of God. We only looked on. Alone he wrought and without any assistance from us. Alone he finished that work to which we could add nothing save to mar it.

But not power alone is necessary for salvation, and the third stanza tells of God's holiness. "Glorious in holiness" is he who has saved us, so that the very holiness that was against us as sinners is now on our side making us secure. And here is another source of praise.

And this gives complete assurance as to the future, for "Thou leadest in thy mercy the people thou hast redeemed; thou guidest them with thy might to thy holy habitation." There are no misgivings as to the end and no slandering God with expressions of halfhearted doubt and fear. Such things cannot exist in the heart that knows the triumph of Christ.

In the fourth measure of the song they see all enemies laid low. And the Christian counterpart of this is the challenge of Rom. 8:31-39, "If God be for us who can be against us? Who is he that condemneth?" The song closes with the land of promise as the end of the journey: "Thou shalt plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance." And in these words we hear our Lord saying to us, "I go to prepare a place for you . . . that where I am there ye shall be also." A prepared place for a prepared people, and God leading the way into it. There is no more to say and the song closes.

O soul, hast thou learned to sing?

MONTENEGRO GETS TASTE OF BENEFIT FROM RED CROSS

(By United Press)

Cettinje. (By Mail)—Montenegro, smallest, poorest and most barren of the Balkan States is tasting the fruits of American enterprise and generosity. The United States Food Administration and the American Red Cross have sent hundreds of tons of flour, clothing, shoes and medicines into this desolate little country which has never yielded sufficient from its soil to support the 300,000 sturdy mountaineers who make their homes here.

The presence of America's two big relief agencies not only has ameliorated conditions among the destitute, but it has resulted in a 100 per cent. decrease in the prices of all the necessities of life. The Food Administration is selling a part of its flour at cost. To those not able to pay the flour is given free.

There are two companies of American troops here, whose principal work has been in putting down incipient revolutions among disaffected Montenegrin soldiers. Recently a large body of Montenegrin revolutionists, surrendered to a small detachment of American doughboys. The revolutionists were disarmed and then pressed into service by the Americans to unload supply boats from the American Red Cross. They were compensated in flour and were sager after that to secure permanent employment in the Red Cross. Each man received six pounds of flour a day.

Cettinje, which formerly was the capital of Montenegro, is situated in a little valley almost completely surrounded by high mountains. The town has much the appearance of a Mexican city with its wide streets and low red-tiled buildings. Near the center of the city is the palace of King Nicholas, who although now in Paris, is struggling hard to retain his throne. In a sumptuous building formerly occupied by the Crown Prince, the American Red Cross has established a hospital.

In one home visited by the correspondents, there was a mother of three children lying on a bed of straw on the floor and dying of pneumonia. A girl of twenty rested on a mattress of bags near the door. Her hands were tied. She was insane. The other two children, suffering from malaria and malnutrition, were huddled close to a feeble fire of charcoal embers. The father, who had lost a leg in the war, sat disconsolately on a log. There was not a morsel of food in the house.

In the town of Podgoritz, where the American Red Cross has a hospital and soup kitchen, the correspondent noted two children gnawing ravenously on a dog's bone which they had picked up in the street. To help the American Red Cross in relieving the wide-spread distress among the poor, United States Army officers and soldiers, recently released from service in France, are being employed. A number of female physicians attached to the American Women's Hospital, New York, also are being used. Of 18,000 Montenegrins who migrated to the United States, more than half returned to fight for their country. The influence of these Montenegrin-Americans is felt everywhere.

How completely the Americans have penetrated the country is shown by the fact that in every large town American flags may be seen flying from storehouses and soup kitchens established by the American Red Cross.

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do what which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

THE FIRST ANNUAL CHILDREN'S FASHION SHOW

Reveals Attractive and Useful 1919 Spring Styles

International Buyers' Club Presents Celebrated Juvenile "Movie" Actors in the First Models for Young Ladies at Bush Terminal Sales Building, New York.

Adorable Little Models, Fitted to Perfection, Show Frocks for Play, School, Promenade, Dancing and More Formal Occasions; Overalls to Be Quite the Thing for Little Girls as Well as for Boys.

Adorable little models, fitted to perfection, the dresses being designed especially for the purpose for which each is intended, and worn with the ease, grace and nonchalance of a belle with a record of two or three successful seasons, promenade, school, for dancing, for play time, for school, for dancing, for promenade, and for such formal occasions as a fashionable wedding. They are all the latest fashions, rompers, blouses, frocks that children frolic in from the time they get up until they go to bed.

It was the First Annual Children's Fashion Show and was held under the auspices of the International Buyers' Club in the great Bush Terminal Sales Building, in Times Square, New York. That building is now as a paradise for women buyers and men buyers as well. But the buyers, who crowded the auditorium, for the moment, all about the stage when the children took the stage. Then they began to analyze the possibilities of the lines displayed, when actually worn by lively youngsters, obtaining a graphic idea of the human side of the merchandise. It was more than a fashion show. It was the Day Goods Economy. It showed the relation of a child's clothes to its health and comfort. It was, so far as is known, the first fashion show ever staged exclusively of children.

The first group of garments, shown in the living exhibits, were for play and school wear. They included sweaters and rompers, blouses, dresses and overalls. The exhibit included three general types of rompers, the full bloomers, the "bloomer" bloomers, and the small bloomers. The bloomers dresses were of straight lines from the shoulders, and came to the ankles. The bloomers were regulation type, with straight trousers, bib and crossed straps. Overall, it was evident, are to be quite the thing for little girls as well as for boys.

The general style of the sweater was the "Blue Devil" tan mode, showing how on the side of the head. There followed a number of blouses, for older girls, with a variety of necks, some with a high collar, some with a low collar, some with a wide collar, some with a narrow collar, some with a high collar, some with a low collar, some with a wide collar, some with a narrow collar.

Reminiscent of the war was the Alsatian street set, including a Navy blue serge cape with gray silk lining that was displayed by Virginia Held, Child Art Model. This set was simplest in design of all exhibited, but even at that it was finished with gray, hand-made braid. The hat was of blue.

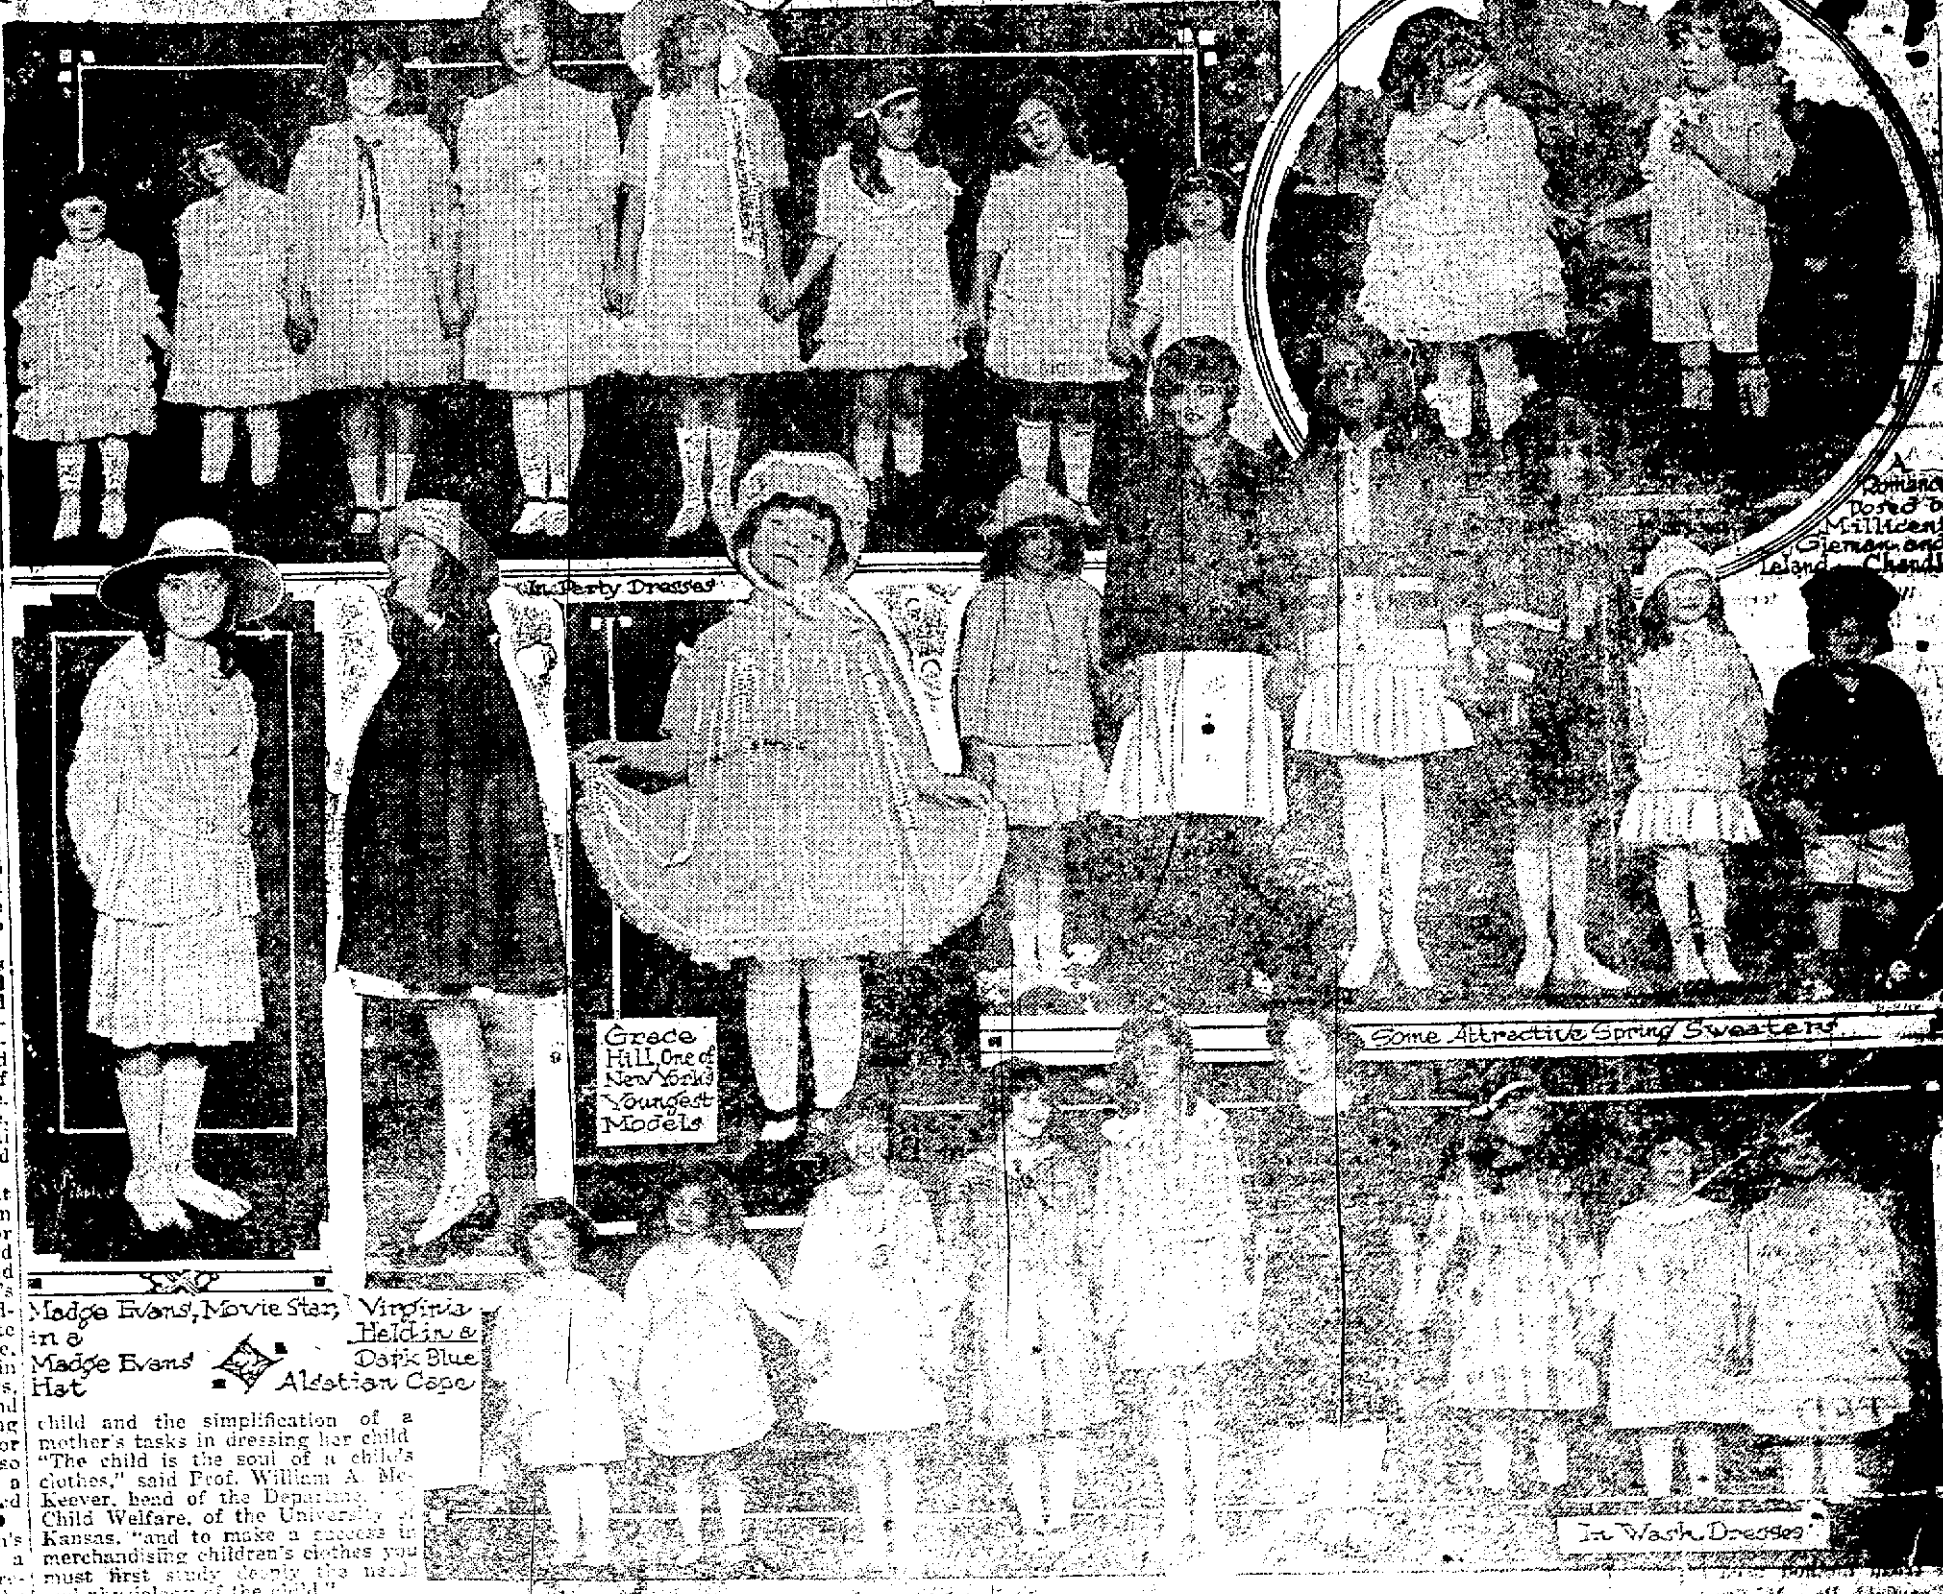

The next group was composed of head wear worn by the young Morning Picture Star, Madge Evans. Madge is a month over ten years and is the epitome of radiant girlish beauty. The hats were wide saillors with brims slightly turned down, and long streamers, hand-painted in some cases near the ends.

Followed a number of scenes with afternoon dresses, among which were the straight line slips worn with such white waists, together with such features as suspender effects, tabs holding sashes and half sashes started from under the arms and tied in the back. Several of these dresses had bell-shaped sleeves. Flavored trimmings were tiny frills, pleated ruffles, groups of tucks, cross-bar pin tucks, and embroidered motifs. The motifs were repeated in hats made to match the dresses.

The next act showed party dresses in which the children concerned staged a party. The youthful justness wore a little chamberly afternoon dress. Surprised by the arrival of her first guest, she excused herself and put on a ruffled dress of deep cream lace and crepe de chine. Her guests wore dresses of organdy, georgette or lawn, the princeling featuring of which were inverted pleated ruffles and apron effects.

And right here it may be said that the dictators of fashion for children dictate for the male as well as for the female—with favoritism toward none, as the numerous tucks and ruffles on Master Leland Chandler's outfit amply proved. Master Chandler, juvenile actor on the legitimate stage, took part in a wedding scene, which illustrated the correct order in the procession of the ring-bearers, flower-girls, bridesmaids, bride and train bearer, and the proper clothing for each one. Even the garments for school and playground were not so severe that they could not afford a twist and turn of a ruffle to lead them charm.

In connection with the Children's Fashion Show there was given a Child Welfare exhibit, which states to clothes, the health of the business, becoming a member of the Summit Coal company in 1897. In 1899 that company was merged with Madeira Hill coal mining company, of which Mr. Betts was general manager for ten years. The encroachments of his business interests upon his time and attention compelled him to retire from the active practice of the law, which he had for a while been conducting in conjunction with his coal interests.

BAR ASSOCIATION RESOLUTIONS ON FRED G. BETTS

He terminated his relations with Madeira Hill Coal Mining Company, and became identified with Goshen Coal company of which he was the President for many years, and so continuing to his death.

Frederick Gregory Betts was a director of the County National Bank of Clearfield and a Vice President thereof.

In all his business enterprises he was eminently successful, and he had gained a notable position in the business and financial affairs of his home town and county.

Frederick Gregory Betts, on November 9, 1897 married Bess Bridge, of Clearfield, and to their union four children have been born, Margaret, Frederick Gregory, William W., and Catharine. The home life of Mr. Betts was ideal, and he was a loving and indulgent husband and father. All his moments not taken up by his business interests were given to his family, and to the public and to his church.

He was an active member of the Presbyterian church of Clearfield, a tireless worker in charitable and patriotic directions, and a liberal contributor to every worthy cause.

Notwithstanding his severance of active relations with his profession, Mr. Betts always maintained a deep interest in the law and the Clearfield County Bar. He was frequently in attendance at court, and continued to be in touch with members of the profession. He had a real affection for the law, and at times expressed regret that his business affairs took so much of his care that he could not actively practice any longer.

In his death the members of this bar recognize the loss to Clearfield county of one of its leading citizens and most public spirited men, and as a mark of our respect and esteem for our deceased brother and distinguished citizen, be it

RESOLVED That this Bar attend the funeral services at his home in a body and accompany the funeral cortege to his burial place in the Hillcrest cemetery, Clearfield.

Following the adoption of the resolutions James A. Gleason, Esq., arose and delivered a touching memorial address in which he related the many outstanding qualities of the deceased and expressed the sense of loss felt by all the members of the Bar. In Mr. Betts' death.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Harry Coppings carnival arrived yesterday and everything will be in tip-top shape for the opening show tonight. The outfit is larger and better equipped than ever before and first class entertainments are guaranteed each evening during its stay in town. Remember that the carnival is under the auspices of the Rescue Hose and Ladder company and certain share of the proceeds for the five days will go to the firemen. The money which will be awarded to the firemen will go toward paying for an electric water engine, and also for the purchase of some new hose. Curwensville people should patronize the carnival liberally and thereby assist the firemen in raising their share of the fund which the fire company obligated themselves to raise to help pay for the machine.

Carl Murphy, whose home is at Lumber City and who is one of Uncle Sam's sailor lads, was in town Saturday visiting his brother Jay Murphy who is head clerk at the Wrigley drug store.

The making of a fistic entertainment was nipped in the bud Saturday evening by the timely arrival of Chief Clark on the scene.

The Curwensville baseball team went to Bellefonte Saturday and contested in a game with the Bellefontines. The Curwensville team played the game well but were defeated by a score of 18 to 2. The home team were well treated by their victorious opponents whom they expect to meet again soon.

Morris Kephart and wife, of Johnstown, autoed to Curwensville Saturday and spent some hours at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hips, the parents of Mrs. Kephart. Mr. Kephart was formerly employed by the P. E. & L. finishing tannery here.

Mrs. Harry Bilger, who was taken to the Clearfield hospital several days ago for treatment was brought home Sunday very much improved.

Mrs. William Wolf has been assigned to the reserve artillery of this state with the rank of second lieutenant. The battery with which he will be connected will camp two weeks each year for training and practice with guns which does destruction in war times.

James Redding and family spent Sunday in town as the guests of and Mrs. Kelly on West Main street.

Help the firemen by buying a carnation ticket whether you attend the entertainment or not.

Miss Blanche Graham was a DuBois visitor Sunday.

Henry Powell spoke in the M. E. church Sunday, his subject being liberty bonds. His talk was plain and he urged it to be the duty of every Curwensville citizen to purchase one or more. There is no safer investment than a government bond and why those who have ready money on hand hesitate to buy a bond is unexplainable.

Borough authorities have had signs planted at different places in town bearing these words "Park no cars here." Wonder if the mandate will be observed as closely as the speed ordinance are.

started on the state road again and it is hoped that it will be finished in this attempt as Paradise folks as well as others have surely had their share of the mud the last ten months. Once it is finished it will mean much to Paradise folks also pleasure seekers as the street will be bricked one mile from the hospital.

Mrs. Alfred Walker entertained Class No. 8 of the West Side Methodist church of which Mrs. James Starn is teacher. The evening was delightfully spent in a social way after the business hour. The class donated twenty-five dollars toward the balcony recently built in the church. Delicious refreshments were served. There were about twenty-five members present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Chariton have arrived here from Akron and will spend the summer months at their home, recently vacated by Miss Derstine.

John Carns, of Avis, is spending a few days with relatives here.

Robert Ogden narrowly escaped serious injury on Wednesday evening while riding a bicycle down Turnpike avenue. As he went to go by the cross street at Hannah street a car driven by Alec Rowles made the turn at the street and to avoid a collision he ran the bicycle over the curb in front of Mrs. Fred Demis home. He upset and lit on his shoulders on the side walk. At first it was thought he was seriously injured but a physician was called and after an examination pronounced no bones broken and he is able to be up and around at this writing.

Thomas Farrell has moved into our vicinity having bought Frank Carter's property on the Mill Road. Frank Carter has moved into the James Woods homestead having purchased same from Mr. Woods.

Mrs. Judd Carns has completed an ice cream parlor in connection with her grocery store and invites the public to call on her while out this way.

Mr. Woodward of the firm of Woodward & McPherson has purchased the farm at the cross roads, recently owned by Judge Bell and is making all arrangements for a summer home. Mr. Woodward is putting in some dams and expects to have some fine fish dams, and will have a nice home where he can spend his leisure hours fishing and enjoying the good fresh air with his family.

For some reason fishermen never stop to show you their catch while passing through our burg. Well the weather hasn't been very favorable for trout fishing so that accounts for it no doubt.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CLEARFIELD AND VICINITY

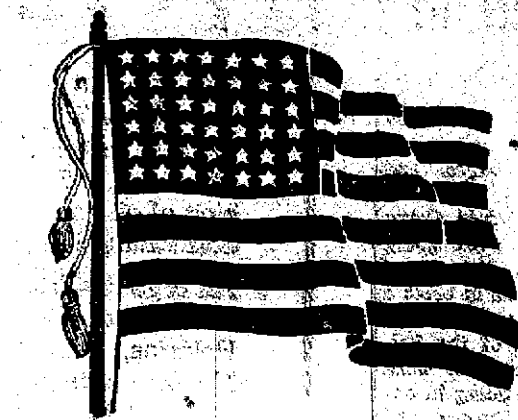

Do you know there are twenty-one children in one house in Clearfield who need help? Well there is, and you can help them and at the same time be benefited yourselves by helping them. There are twenty-one children in the Children's Home on Old Town Road, who the Children's Aid Society is taking care of. This is a worthy cause and they need our help. The Westman's Cash Grocery company will give 5 per cent. of all their sales at the three Clearfield stores next Saturday to the Children's Aid Society. Now let every one tell some one else about this and talk about it all week, then on Saturday contribute something to help the children.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS SUPPORT IN BUILDING PROGRAM

To the Business Men, Lodges and Public of Clearfield:

On behalf of the Clearfield Corps of the Salvation Army we are going to appeal to the good citizens of Clearfield County to aid us to erect a building or a place of worship and residence for the officers of the Salvation Army to carry on their work in the same, as they are doing in our neighboring towns of Tyrone and Philipsburg and other places. Now we realize that we have at the present time E. J. Powers of the State Campaign Management Committee of the Home Service Campaign here in our midst to select a committee for Clearfield County for the sake of doing their part in the drive to raise the fund of thirteen million dollars for the work of the Salvation Army.

But let us not forget that as a church, as an organization that has made sacrifices, as a people who have done good we are worthy of your respect and consideration and your support we are going to ask your generosity and support to aid us to raise a building here as the public, lodges and business men of Tyrone and Philipsburg are about to do for Army there. The Elks of Tyrone have promised to raise at least one thousand dollars to help the Army building fund while the business men and public have promised to raise about six thousand dollars more and so is Philipsburg going to help raise money for a building in appreciation for their work both at home and abroad for our boys.

Now how about Clearfield? Do the good people of Clearfield appreciate the work of the Salvation Army enough to help them raise a building. We have wealth enough to do so. Are there not a few people in Clearfield that feel that the Salvation Army has done a thousand dollars worth of good for their boy or some lodge or lodges, or if you are not capable of giving one thousand maybe five hundred or two or one. Get busy Clearfield let's hear from you. Select your committee, appoint your solicitor and see if we cannot raise a building or citadel for the Army work here in Clearfield the same as the Y. M. C. A. or any other church. No doubt citizens of Clearfield you have heard the warm praise of the soldiers on the Victory Loan train yesterday heard their warm praise of Staff Captain (Dad) Holpin as they call him and the good work done by the Army. You also have heard from your own boys of their wonderful self sacrifice. So get busy Clearfield. Any one wishing to contribute kindly notify Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Singer, 215 6th street, West Side, who are in charge during the absence of officers and who are doing their best and utmost to get the public of Clearfield to give them a building to preach the gospel in as they have done at the front in appreciation and good faith for the Army's self sacrifice for the boys over there.

HIDING OUR HEADS

Yes, that is what we are doing today. And that is what every Clearfielder should do, or at least feel like doing, so long as our Victory Loan record is in the shape that it is at the present—only one quarter done and three quarters of the time gone.

There is absolutely no use kidding ourselves into the belief that old Clearfield will be there when the loan hour comes on Saturday and the banks will be open for business and simultaneously the Victory Loan subscription books.

We are utterly foolish to think that our patriotic deeds of the past will wipe out our omission of the present.

Our much vaunted pride in our city becomes only an empty boasting in the face of facts and figures as published in The Progress yesterday.

The Progress is taking its head. You will find it in the face of this sheet. The Progress is not taking its head again until Clearfield comes through the share of "finishing the job"; the job which we started.

Simply, we have no hopes of showing our head this week. In fact, we will show our head next week, but when we pull our heads out of the hole we are going to make a plain statement of fact.

What the headline will be is entirely up to the people of this community. It will be one of the following and regardless of results it will be embellished in black face type which can be read miles away:

It may be—

"Clearfield A Slacker Community"

It can be—

"Clearfield Goes Over The Top Again"

Which will it be?

It's up to YOU and ME.

THE VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

The fighting is over, but the job isn't finished yet.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Nine members of Council and Mayor Chase legislated for the taxpayers of the borough at last night's meeting of Council held in the borough building. Chairman Fletcher directed the meeting and a great deal of business was transacted.

Mayor Chase's report showed 28 arrests during April and the collection of $73.00 in fines and $9.00 in licenses for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported on street work during the two weeks and the Highway department directed him to secure additional men for his street crew and push the work of fixing up the dirt streets in the different wards.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented a letter from the County Commissioners in which they refused to consider the proposal for the purchase of a site for sewerage disposal works on the County Home farm.

Mr. Thompson of Sewer Committee, reported on West Locust street complaint and stated that a sanitary sewer should be constructed at this point at the expense of the property owners. The Highway and Sewer departments and Borough Solicitor were directed to take the matter up and report at next meeting.

A. H. Woodward and Albert V. Brown presented a petition signed by about all of the property owners on Locust street asking that this street be paved with brick between Second and Fourth street. Mr. Woodward made a strong plea to have Council consider this improvement and said he felt satisfied the people would submit to the payment of two thirds of the expense of such paving, providing council would establish this principle for all subsequent paving, which is provided for under the state law and which is the general procedure in about every town in Pennsylvania but Clearfield. The matter was laid on the table until next meeting when the summer budget will be decided upon.

The Borough Engineer presented estimates of cost of the paving of alleys with both brick and concrete, in which it is shown that the brick alley can be built cheaper than with concrete, but advocates, trying both materials as an experiment.

The Borough Solicitor was directed to draw an ordinance providing for the paving with brick of the alley leading from Third street to the intersecting alley between Second and Third streets.

Engineer Heasler also reported on Fourth street relief drain stating that the proposed new sewer had been surveyed on a line from the river below the dam to Pine street. This line is about 1500 feet in length and the depth to the bottom of the sewer will be from 6 to 12 feet.

Henry Highfield, one of the Clearfield High school graduates who promptly volunteered his services to his country when the call was made for men in April 1917, arrived home Monday last having recently landed at New York with the grand old Keystone division.

Young Highfield was a member of Co. H of the old Sixteenth and saw real war service until put down and out by no less than eight wounds. He received three machine gun bullets through the stomach, one through the leg, while another penetrated his ankle. In addition to this shower of machine gun bullets he also received a shrapnel wound in the back, the piece of shell also driving a portion of barbed wire into his back. He spent many weary weeks in hospitals but thanks to skillful surgery, careful nursing, an iron constitution and the American spirit to surmount all obstacles "Hank" fooled them all and arrived home in fine shape.

CLEARFIELD FALLING MISERABLY SHORT ON HER VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN QUOTA

What Is The Matter With Clearfield?

The results so far in the sale of Victory notes prompt the question. The solicitors are working hard but the results are discouraging to say the least. Neighboring towns are ahead of us—many of the rural districts have gone over the top, but Clearfield is lagging badly.

The German morale broke when our boys refused to retreat. Did our morale break at the same time? Because our service men handed us the victory much sooner than we had reason to expect it, are we going to refuse to pay for it? Perhaps we are Bolsheviks. The Bolsheviks don't like to pay for anything.

Some refuse to subscribe because the war is over. It is true the war is over for those who fell in battle and gave their all for us, but it is not over for us until we pay the bill and bring back home every man who went across.

The question is squarely up to us in Clearfield whether we are going to close our war activities with a failure, or continue our good record of the past loans. Our quota is $1,450,000.00. The subscription up to Saturday night were $274,150.00. The number of subscribers 1026. On the Fourth loan we made our quota $1,800,000.00 with over 8000 subscribers. Somebody is slacking. Is it you? If the honorable record of this community is to be preserved, every individual must make it his business to help put this loan across. No one has done his full duty if he can subscribe to this loan and does not. Our part is not complete until we see it through.

Don't forget also, Mr. Citizen, that if you throw your share of the loan into the banks you are helping to retard business recovery and reconstruction.

This is a plain statement of facts.

ITALIANS RETURN TO TALK PEACE

ORLANDO AND SONNINO WILL ARRIVE AT PARIS THURSDAY, SAYS OFFICIAL

Fiume to be made free port under control of League of Nations for period of three years

SECRET PLENARY SESSION TUESDAY

PARIS, May 5.—The Italian peace delegates are returning to Paris. This statement was made this afternoon by the Italian ambassador to France. He informed Foreign Minister Pichon that President Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino are leaving Rome tonight and will arrive here Thursday morning. At the same time it was learned that the "big three" is considering a plan for making Fiume a free port under control of the League of Nations for a period of three years during which time the Italians and Jugo-Slavs will enjoy equal commercial rights. At the expiration of the three years it is assumed that Fiume will be formally annexed to Italy.

PARIS, May 5.—While no official announcement has been made to that effect it is generally understood a formal invitation has been dispatched to the Austrian government to send its delegates to the peace conference. Preparations for their reception at St. Germain, near Versailles, were begun Saturday. Official information has been received that the Austrians probably will arrive in St. Germain a week from today. Consumation of peace with Bulgaria and Turkey, it is believed, will be undertaken probably at the same time as the settlement with Austria. The United States will not be directly concerned in either of these treaties as it was not at war with these two countries.

The meeting was called to order by Judge Singleton Bell who paid brief but eloquent tribute to his deceased friend and fellow attorney.

William I. Swoope, Esq., then arose and offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted and ordered spread upon the minutes of the Bar Association:

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Penna.
In re Death of Frederick Gregory Betts.

To the Honorable Singleton Bell, President Judge of said Court: Your Committee appointed to prepare a suitable memorial upon the death of Frederick Gregory Betts, a member of the Bar, begs leave to report:

He read law with Frank Fielding, Esq., and was admitted to practice in the Clearfield County Courts on August 27, 1894. Soon thereafter he formed a partnership for the practice of law with Frank Fielding, Esq., his preceptor, the firm continuing for about two years. The whole hearted and generous response to our appeal for funds to send two worthy service men to St. Louis to the initial meeting of the Legion of Honor is concrete evidence to the service men of this vicinity that they have and hold a prominent place in our affections. It is especially gratifying to note that the men selected, Guy Lawhead and Worrel Jones are upstanding men whom Clearfield is glad to honor.

A CONTRAST

The Punxsutawney Spirit, in boosting that town, stated: "Morally we are in a class by ourselves. The number of dapple, sick souls here is below par. The police station could be turned over to a missionary society and our police given a six-months vacation." The Brookville paper, in speaking of the number of prisoners in the county jail, stated that the sheriff was entertaining but one man. Jefferson county is dry.

Who can make such a claim for Clearfield County? Criminal court which begins today starts on a list of crimes that would make the East Side of New York green with envy. Almost every crime in the whole criminal category is on the list. Just how many of them are attributable to King Alcohol is a matter of debate but the cold fact remains that there is no good reason why our list should be larger than that of Jefferson county. We are situated in similar circumstances and environment—with one exception—we have the booze joints and Jefferson has not.

THE GERMAN LANGUAGE

The German language has always held a high place in the higher education of the world and it was with reluctance that educators throughout the Allied nations dropped the German book which action served as a merited rebuke to the German people for their misuse and abuse of a language which owing to its richness and beauty had forged ahead and become a vehicle for the carrying of greater learning in the arts and sciences to the people of the earth. No one will deny that owing to the crimes of the German people their language should be permitted and heeded to drop into complete oblivion. No one is a champion of the German language for the mere reason that it is the language of a one time great nation nor is there anybody who is going to protect and foster it because of any sentimental reasons. Sentiment applied to anything German is unthinkable. However, the fact remains that German is still the language of millions of people, not alone in Germany but in other parts of the earth where German intrigue and machinations made great headway in commerce. Today Germany stands indicted before the world and disgraced in business. All that trade and commerce heretofore going through German channels can and will be diverted to other nations. America is a contender for this trade and it stands to reason that we cannot go into a German speaking market and sell American goods without a knowledge of German. We must beat them at their own game. Our legislature has administered a merited rebuke in passing laws forbidding the teaching of the Hun language in our schools but had the law been aimed by our government that state would have deprived its young people of the opportunity to fit themselves for combating German influence with their own weapons. Our governor has wisely vetoed the law. To do otherwise would have been to cut off our nose to spite our face. Pennsylvania lives by commerce and industry. Our great captains of industry and generals of commerce have come from Pennsylvania. There is no danger of anybody becoming "kultured" thru the study of the German tongue. The danger now is all for the German nation itself.

Golden Years Ahead If We All Pull Together
OUT of the shadow of the World War America emerges, facing a period of promise unparalleled in the History of Business.
There is but one more obstacle to be overcome one more gap to be bridged—the payment of the war debts. This is the purpose of the Victory Loan and, to accomplish it fully and completely, it is essential that we all pull together—that every man subscribe to the Victory Loan to the full extent to which he expects to benefit by the golden years to come.

POULTRY FACTS

CHICKS REARED IN BROODERS

No System Ideal for All Conditions—Success Depends on Individual Handling.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
More difference of opinion exists as to the value of brooding systems than in any other part of poultry rearing, which shows that no system is ideal for all conditions, but that success depends largely on individual handling and care. Many chicks which may be traced to faulty incubation or weakness in breeding stock. Successful chick raising depends primarily upon having healthy, vigorous breeding stock.

Some of the most important faults in the management of brooders are overcrowding and lack of ventilation, while the chicks fail to get sufficient exercise. The brooder should supply the proper temperature, be readily adapted to change in weather conditions, be easy to clean and well ventilated. The capacity should not be overestimated. One-half to two-thirds of the number of chickens commonly advised will do much better than a larger number. Brooders and hovers should have from one-half to two inches of sand, dry dirt, cut clover or chaff spread over the floor, and in case they are kept in the brooder house, over the floor of this also. The hovers should be cleaned frequently, as cleanliness is essential in raising chickens successfully.

The best temperature at which to keep a brooder or hover depends upon the position of the thermometer, the style of the hover, the age of the chickens, and the weather conditions. Aim to keep the chickens comfortable. As the operator learns by the action of the chickens the amount of heat they require, he can discard the thermometer if he desires. When too cold they will crowd together and try to get nearer the heat. If it is found in the morning that the droppings are well scattered over the hover it is an indication that the chickens have had enough heat. If the chickens are comfortable at night they will be spread out under the hover with the heads of some protruding from under the hover cloth. Too much heat will cause them to pant and sit around with their mouths open.

It is impossible to state for each case at what temperature the brooders should be kept to raise young chickens; however, it will run from 90 up to 100 degrees in some cases, as some broods of chickens seem to require more heat than others, an average being 93 to 95 degrees for the first week or ten days, when the temperature is gradually reduced to 85 degrees for the following ten days, and then lowered to 70 or 75 degrees for as long as the chickens need heat. This depends somewhat on the season of the year and the number of the chickens, as it can be readily seen that the heat generated by 50 chickens would raise the temperature under the hover to a higher degree than the heat given off by a lesser number, consequently the amount of heat furnished by the lamp or stove will have to be regulated accordingly. As the chickens grow larger and need less heat the lamps may be used only at night, and later only on cold nights. The heat is usually cut off at the end of four or five weeks in March or April in the vicinity of Washington, D. C., while winter chickens have been fed for eight or ten weeks, or until they are well feathered. Care should be taken to prevent chilling or overheating the chickens, which weakens them and may result in bowel trouble.

When chickens are first put into the brooder they should be confined under or around the hover by placing a board or wire frame a few inches outside (this would not apply to the small outdoor colony brooders).

POULTRY NOTES

Ducks need the grit for their digestion just as chickens do.

Clean houses, nests, runs, drinking and feeding vessels are important.

Old hens that are not needed for breeders should be fattened and marketed.

There is still a good demand for capons, and all on hand should be marketed.

You should have tight coops for the hens and chickens to prevent rats, weasels and skunks from getting in at night and killing little chickens.

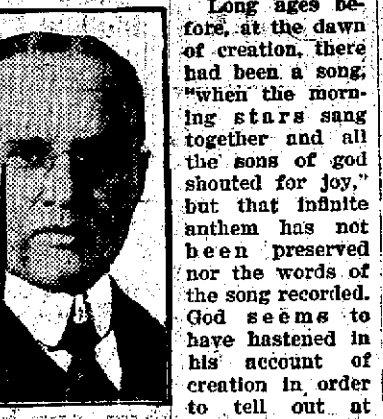

The minimum wage for women is established by law now in twelve States and in the District of Columbia.

Songs by the Sea

By REV. GEORGE GUILLE, Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord—Ex. 15:1.

The first song in the Bible! And on the wilderness side of the sea!

Long ages before, at the dawn of creation, there had been a song, "when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy," but that infinite anthem has not been preserved nor the words of the song recorded. God seems to have hastened in his account of creation in order to tell out, at length, his mighty work of redemption. He made man by his breath; he saves him by his blood. It is in what he has done for man's redemption that he is to be forever glorified, and while the symphony of the stars still rings in his ears, yet here, at the Red sea, is sweeter music for his heart than theirs, and of such delight to him that he writes down every word of it as a part of Holy Scripture.

No song had Israel in Egypt, but sighs and groans and a cry. But now they are out of Egypt and Canaan looms before their eyes. The chains of bondage were snapped on the Pass-over night when, sheltered by that all-protecting blood, the judgment that fell upon Egypt passed over them. Now their deliverance is a realization. Pursued by Pharaoh's armies, and hemmed in between the mountains and the sea, they cry out in a frenzy of despair. "When to the sea divides and through it they go dry-shod and unharmed to the other side. And looking back they saw the sea that had opened to let them out of Egypt closing to shut them out and closing over their enemies. Then they sang!

The passage of the sea has put them in a wilderness, and yet they sing. And the wilderness is just what this world has become to those who know what that mighty work of the cross has done for them and who, in spirit, have seen just beyond the wilderness the heavenly Canaan to which that cross has secured an enduring title. And this song of praise from the hearts of redeemed sinners who have looked across the place of death and beheld a triumphant Savior is what our Father God is waiting still to hear.

And now can we sing, for by this way of the sea have we come into this pilgrim path with God. It is the shepherd's hand that holds that rod stretched out across the sea. And our Shepherd who giveth his life for the sheep has opened for us a safe path through his death. That "strong east wind" of adversity blowing through all that night of his anguish on the cross, where for our sins he was nailed, has cleared a way for us by which we pass out of Egypt, out of the whole sphere to which the "law of sin and death" applies. Christ's death, in all its value, is ours, and our hearts, once desolate because of sin, have now a song.

In vain does one look in this song for anything that man has done. Such a note would make an awful discord. Every word of this is the celebration of what Jehovah has done, and its first strain tells of the source of all praise: "I will sing unto Jehovah for he hath triumphed gloriously." It is this that makes melody in the heart. As Israel saw, so have we seen a triumphant Savior, and that sets the heart a-singing.

The second measure celebrates the deliverance. It was all the work of God. We only looked on. Alone he wrought and without any assistance from us. Alone he finished that work to which we could add nothing save to mar it. But not power alone is necessary for salvation, and the third stanza tells of God's holiness. "Glorious in holiness" is he who has saved us, so that the very holiness that was against us as sinners is now on our side making us secure. And here is another source of praise.

And this gives complete assurance as to the future, "Thou leadest in thy mercy the people thou hast redeemed; thou guidest them with thy might to thy holy habitation." There are no misgivings as to the end and no slandering God with expressions of halfhearted doubt and fear. Such things cannot exist in the heart that knows the triumph of Christ.

In the fourth measure of the song they see all enemies laid low. And the Christian counterpart of this is the challenge of Rom. 8:31-39, "If God be for us who can be against us? Who is he that condemneth?"

The song closes with the land of promise as the end of the journey: "Thou shalt plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance." And in these words we hear our Lord saying to us, "I go to prepare a place for you . . . that where I am there ye shall be also." A prepared place for a prepared people, and God leading the way into it. There is no more to say and the song closes.

O soul, hast thou learned to sing?

MONTENEGRO GETS TASTE OF BENEFIT FROM RED CROSS

(By United Press)

Cettinje. (By Mail)—Montenegro, smallest, poorest and most barren of the Balkan States is tasting the fruits of American enterprise and generosity. The United States Food Administration and the American Red Cross have sent hundreds of tons of flour, clothing, shoes and medicines into this desolate little country which has never yielded sufficient from its soil to support the 300,000 sturdy mountaineers who make their homes here.

The presence of America's two big relief agencies not only has ameliorated conditions among the destitute, but it has resulted in a 100 per cent. decrease in the prices of all the necessities of life. The Food Administration is selling a part of its flour at cost. To those not able to pay the flour is given free.

There are two companies of American troops here, whose principal work has been in putting down incipient revolutions among disaffected Montenegrin soldiers. Recently a large body of Montenegrin revolutionists, surrendered to a small detachment of American doughboys. The revolutionists were disarmed and then pressed into service by the Americans to unload supply boats from the American Red Cross. They were compensated in flour and were sager after that to secure permanent employment in the Red Cross. Each man received six pounds of flour a day.

Cettinje, which formerly was the capital of Montenegro, is situated in a little valley almost completely surrounded by high mountains. The town has much the appearance of a Mexican city with its wide streets and low red-tiled buildings. Near the center of the city is the palace of King Nicholas, who although now in Paris, is struggling hard to retain his throne. In a sumptuous building formerly occupied by the Crown Prince, the American Red Cross has established a hospital.

In one home visited by the correspondents, there was a mother of three children lying on a bed of straw on the floor and dying of pneumonia. A girl of twenty rested on a mattress of bags near the door. Her hands were tied. She was insane. The other two children, suffering from malaria and malnutrition, were huddled close to a feeble fire of charcoal embers. The father, who had lost a leg in the war, sat disconsolately on a log. There was not a morsel of food in the house.

In the town of Podgoritz, where the American Red Cross has a hospital and soup kitchen, the correspondent noted two children gnawing ravenously on a dog's bone which they had picked up in the street.

To help the American Red Cross in relieving the wide-spread distress among the poor, United States Army officers and soldiers, recently released from service in France, are being employed. A number of female physicians attached to the American Women's Hospital, New York, also are being used. Of 18,000 Montenegrins who migrated to the United States, more than half returned to fight for their country. The influence of these Montenegrin-Americans is felt everywhere.

THE FIRST ANNUAL CHILDREN'S FASHION SHOW

Reveals Attractive and Useful 1919 Spring Styles

International Buyers' Club Presents Celebrated Juvenile "Movie" Actors in the First Models for Young Ladies at Bush Terminal Sales Building, New York.

Adorable Little Models, Fitted to Perfection, Show Frocks for Play, School, Promenade, Dancing and More Formal Occasions; Overalls to Be Quite the Thing for Little Girls as Well as for Boys.

Adorable little models, fitted to perfection, the dresses being designed especially for the purpose for which each is intended, and worn with the ease, grace and nonchalance of a belle with a record of two or three successful seasons, promenade, school, for dancing, for play time, for school, for dancing, for promenade, and for such formal occasions as a fashionable wedding. They are all the latest fashions, rompers, and all the other frocks that children frolic in from the time they get up until they go to bed.

It was the First Annual Children's Fashion Show and was held under the auspices of the International Buyers' Club in the great Bush Terminal Sales Building, in Times Square, New York. That building is now as a paradise for women buyers and men buyers as well. But the buyers, who crowded the auditorium, for the moment, all about the stage when the children took the stage. Then they began to analyze the possibilities of the lines displayed, when actually worn by lively youngsters, obtaining a graphic idea of the human side of the merchandise. It was more than a fashion show. It was the Day Goods Economy. After it showed the value of a child's clothes to its health and comfort. It was so far as is known, the first fashion show ever staged exclusively of children.

The first group of garments, shown in the living exhibits, were for play and school wear. They included sweaters and rompers, bloomer dresses and overalls. The exhibit included three general types of rompers, the full bloomers, the "bloomer" bloomers, and the small bloomers. The bloomer dresses were of straight lines from the shoulders, and came to the ankles. The overalls were regulation type, with straight trousers, bib and crossed straps. Overall, it was evident, are to be quite the thing for little girls as well as for boys.

The general style of the sweater was the "Blue Devil" tan mode, showing how on the side of the head. There followed a number of rompers for older girls, which were of a more elaborate design, with long sleeves and long trousers.

Reminiscent of the war was the Alsatian street set, including a Navy blue serge cape with gray silk lining that was displayed by Virginia Held, Child Art Model. This set was simplest in design of all exhibited, but even at that it was finished with gray, hand-made braid. The hat was of blue.

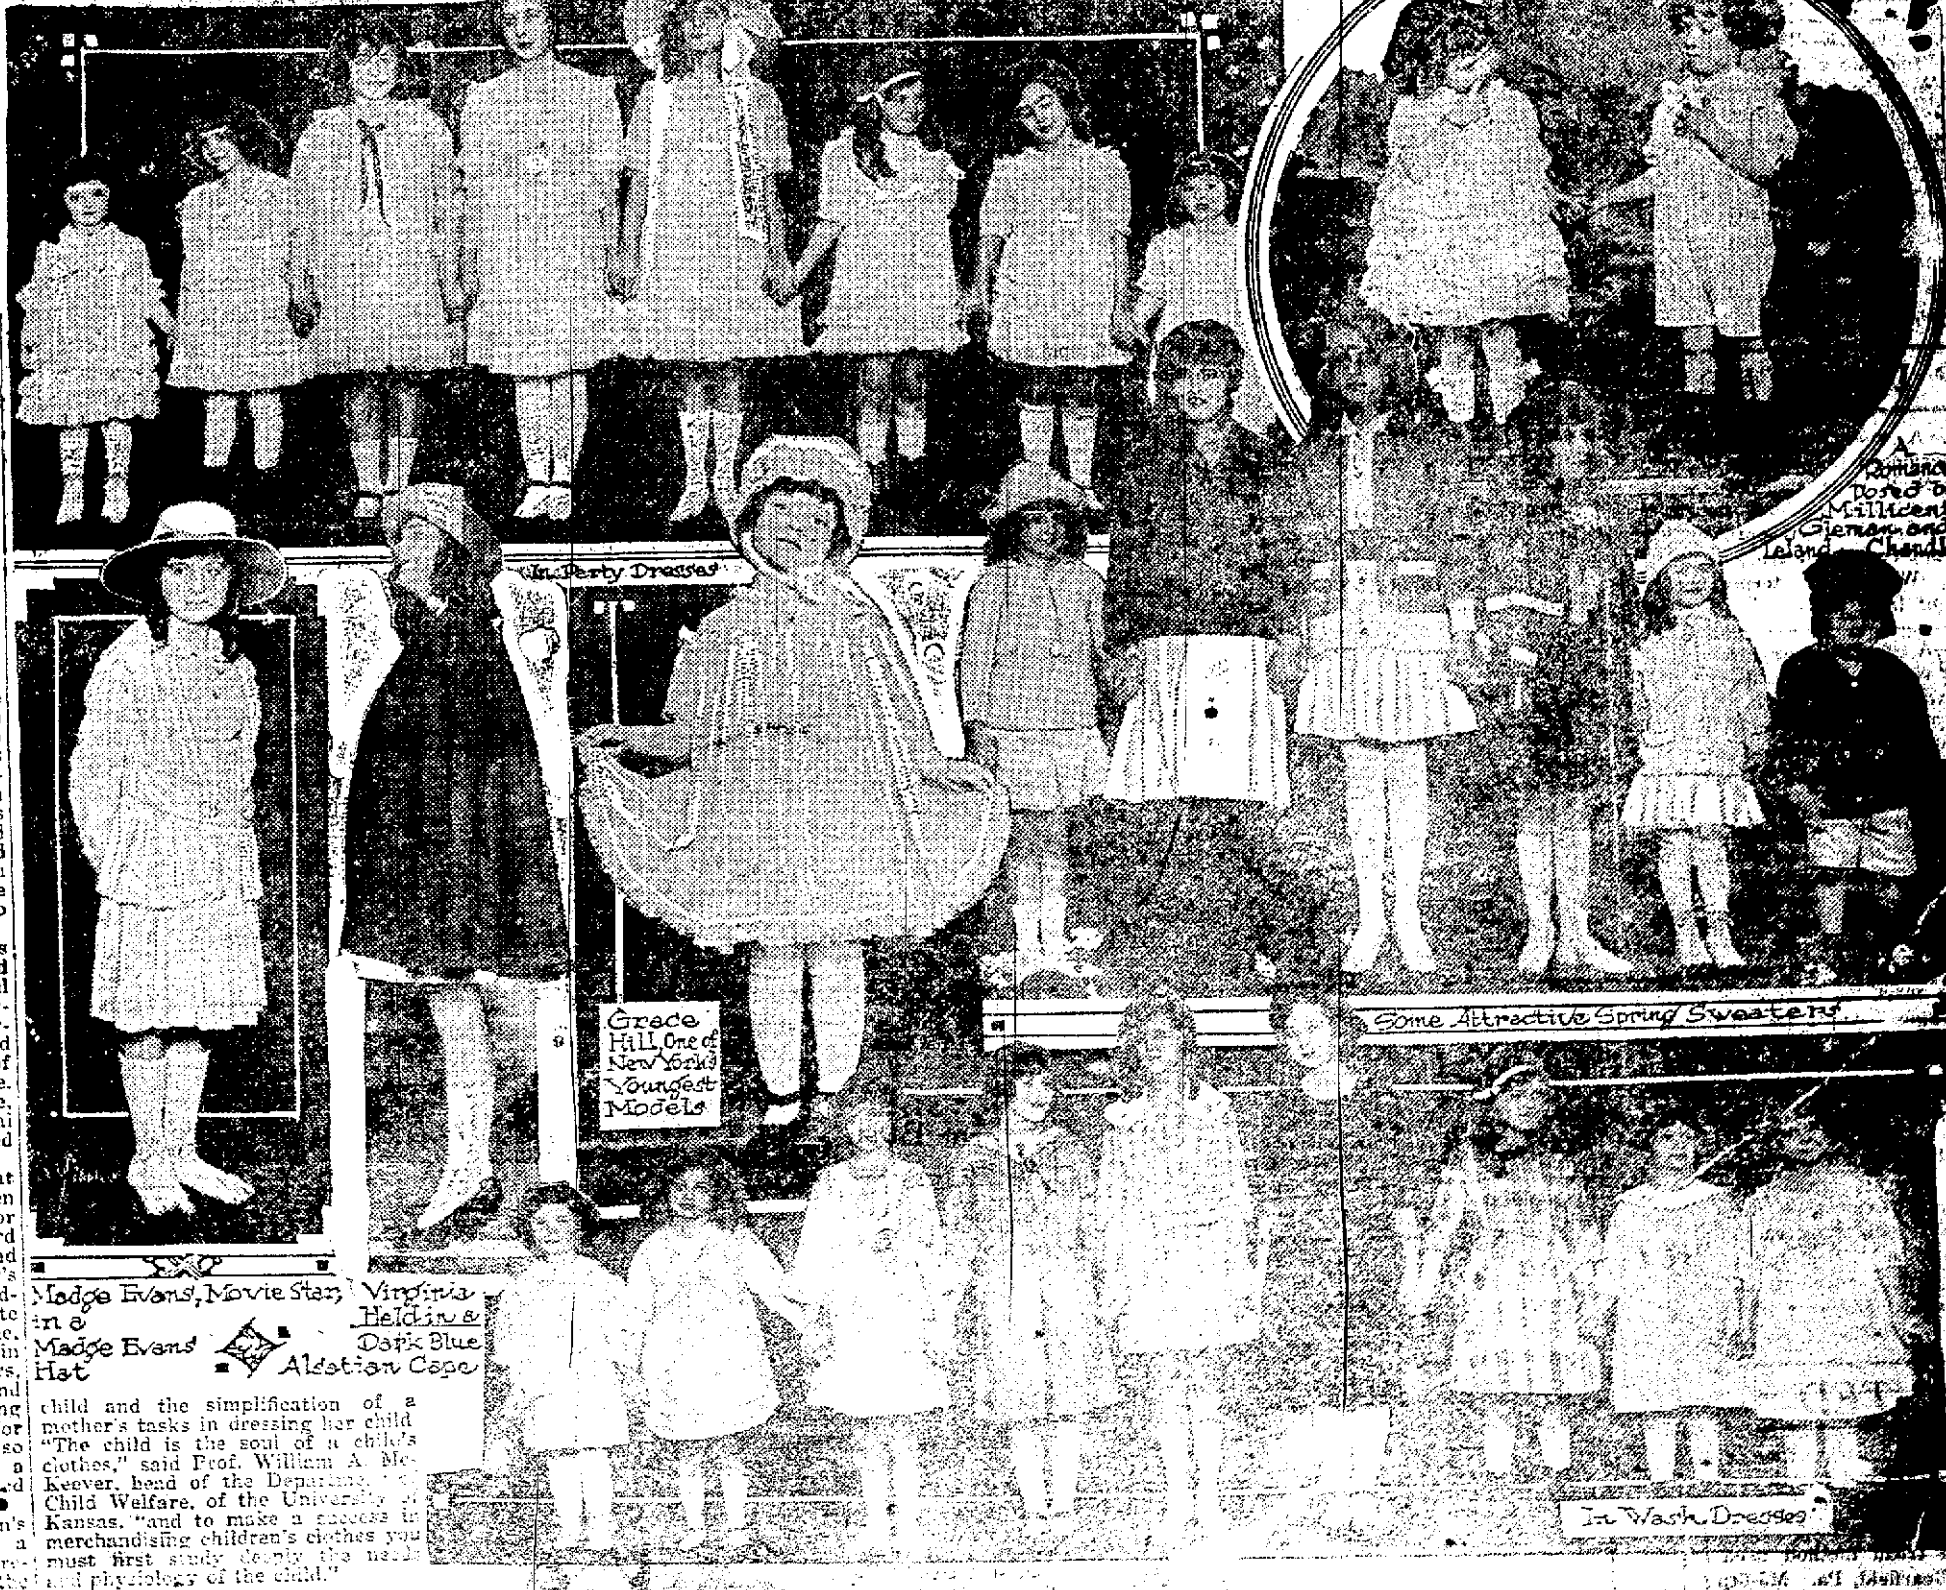

The next group was composed of head wear worn by the young Morning Picture Star, Madge Evans. Madge is a month over ten years and is the epitome of radiant girlish beauty. The hats were wide saillors with brims slightly turned down, and long streamers, hand-painted in some cases near the ends.

Followed a number of scenes with afternoon dresses, among which were the straight line slips worn with such white waists, together with such features as suspender effects, tabs holding sashes and half sashes started from under the arms and tied in the back. Several of these dresses had bell-shaped sleeves. Flavored trimmings were tiny frills, pleated ruffles, groups of tucks, cross-bar pin tucks, and embroidered motifs. The motifs were repeated in hats made to match the dresses.

The next act showed party dresses in which the children concerned staged a party. The youthful justness wore a little chamberly afternoon dress. Surprised by the arrival of her first guest, she excused herself and put on a ruffled dress of deep cream lace and crepe de chine. Her guests wore dresses of organdy, georgette or lawn, the principal features of which were inverted pleated ruffles and apron effects.

And right here it may be said that the dictators of fashion for children dictate for the male as well as for the female—with favoritism toward none, as the numerous tucks and ruffles on Master Leland Chandler's outfit amply proved. Master Chandler, juvenile actor on the legitimate stage, took part in a wedding scene, which illustrated the correct order in the procession of the ring-bearers, flower-girls, bridesmaids, bride and train bearer, and the proper clothing for each one. Even the garments for school and playground were not so severe that they could not afford a twist and turn of a ruffle to lead them charm.

In connection with the Children's Fashion Show there was given a Child Welfare exhibit, which states to clothes, the health of the

SALVATION ARMY ASKS SUPPORT IN BUILDING PROGRAM

To the Business Men, Lodges and Public of Clearfield:

On behalf of the Clearfield Corps of the Salvation Army we are going to appeal to the good citizens of Clearfield County to aid us to erect a building or a place of worship and residence for the officers of the Salvation Army to carry on their work in the same, as they are doing in our neighboring towns of Tyrone and Philipsburg and other places. Now we realize that we have at the present time E. J. Powers of the State Campaign Management Committee of the Home Service Campaign here in our midst to select a committee for Clearfield County for the sake of doing their part in the drive to raise the fund of thirteen million dollars for the work of the Salvation Army.

But let us not forget that as a church, as an organization that has made sacrifices, as a people who have done good we are worthy of your respect and consideration and your support we are going to ask your generosity and support to aid us to raise a building here as the public, lodges and business men of Tyrone and Philipsburg are about to do for Army there. The Elks of Tyrone have promised to raise at least one thousand dollars to help the Army building fund while the business men and public have promised to raise about six thousand dollars more and so is Philipsburg going to help raise money for a building in appreciation for their work both at home and abroad for our boys.

Now how about Clearfield? Do the good people of Clearfield appreciate the work of the Salvation Army enough to help them raise a building. We have wealth enough to do so. Are there not a few people in Clearfield that feel that the Salvation Army has done a thousand dollars worth of good for their boy or some lodge or lodges, or if you are not capable of giving one thousand maybe five hundred or two or one. Get busy Clearfield let's hear from you. Select your committee, appoint your solicitor and see if we cannot raise a building or citadel for the Army work here in Clearfield the same as the Y. M. C. A. or any other church. No doubt citizens of Clearfield you have heard the warm praise of the soldiers on the Victory Loan train yesterday heard their warm praise of Staff Captain (Dad) Holpin as they call him and the good work done by the Army. You also have heard from your own boys of their wonderful self sacrifice. So get busy Clearfield. Any one wishing to contribute kindly notify Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Singer, 215 6th street, West Side, who are in charge during the absence of officers and who are doing their best and utmost to get the public of Clearfield to give them a building to preach the gospel in as they have done at the front in appreciation and good faith for the Army's self sacrifice for the boys over there.

HIDING OUR HEADS

Yes, that is what we are doing today. And that is what every Clearfielder should do, or at least feel like doing, so long as our Victory Loan record is in the shape that it is at the present—only one quarter done and three quarters of the time gone.

There is absolutely no use kidding ourselves into the belief that old Clearfield will be there when the loan hour comes on Saturday and the banks will be open for business and simultaneously the Victory Loan subscription books.

We are stupidly foolish to think that our patriotic deeds of the past will wipe out our omission of the present.

Our much vaunted pride in our city becomes only an empty boasting in the face of facts and figures as published in The Progress yesterday.

The Progress is taking its head. You will find it in the face of this sheet. The Progress is not hiding its head again until Clearfield comes along to the share of "finishing the job"; the job which we started.

Simply, we have no hopes of showing our head this week. In fact, we will show our head next week, but when we pull our heads out of the hole we are going to make a plain statement of fact.

What the headline will be is entirely up to the people of this community. It will be one of the following and regardless of results it will be embellished in black face type which can be read miles away:

It may be—

"Clearfield A Slacker Community"

It can be—

"Clearfield Goes Over The Top Again"

Which will it be?

It's up to YOU and ME.

THE VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

The fighting is over, but the job isn't finished yet.

Our Army is in Germany keeping "The Watch on the Rhine."

They must be cared for there and brought back home.

We must furnish the money.

Buy Victory Liberty Bonds as a patriotic service, buy them as an act of simple justice to Your Boy "Over There" or buy them as an investment.

Remember the reason, BUY all you can.

The campaign begins April 21st.

Nine members of Council and Mayor Chase legislated for the taxpayers of the borough at last night's meeting of Council held in the borough building. Chairman Fletcher directed the meeting and a great deal of business was transacted.

Mayor Chase's report showed 28 arrests during April and the collection of $73.00 in fines and $9.00 in licenses for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported on street work during the two weeks and the Highway department directed him to secure additional men for his street crew and push the work of fixing up the dirt streets in the different wards.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented a letter from the County Commissioners in which they refused to consider the proposal for the purchase of a site for sewerage disposal works on the County Home farm.

Mr. Thompson of Sewer Committee, reported on West Locust street complaint and stated that a sanitary sewer should be constructed at this point at the expense of the property owners. The Highway and Sewer departments and Borough Solicitor were directed to take the matter up and report at next meeting.

A. H. Woodward and Albert V. Brown presented a petition signed by about all of the property owners on Locust street asking that this street be paved with brick between Second and Fourth street. Mr. Woodward made a strong plea to have Council consider this improvement and said he felt satisfied the people would submit to the payment of two thirds of the expense of such paving, providing council would establish this principle for all subsequent paving, which is provided for under the state law and which is the general procedure in about every town in Pennsylvania but Clearfield. The matter was laid on the table until next meeting when the summer budget will be decided upon.

The Borough Engineer presented estimates of cost of the paving of alleys with both brick and concrete, in which it is shown that the brick alley can be built cheaper than with concrete, but advocates trying both materials as an experiment.

The Borough Solicitor was directed to draw an ordinance providing for the paving with brick of the alley leading from Third street to the intersecting alley between Second and Third streets.

Engineer Heasler also reported on Fourth street relief drain stating that the proposed new sewer had been surveyed on a line from the river below the dam to Pine street. This line is about 1500 feet in length and the depth to the bottom of the sewer will be from 6 to 12 feet.

HENRY HIGHFIELD HOME CARRYING
EIGHT WOUNDS

Henry Highfield, one of the Clearfield High school graduates who promptly volunteered his services to his country when the call was made for men in April 1917, arrived home Monday last having recently landed at New York with the grand old Keystone division.

Young Highfield was a member of Co. H of the old Sixteenth and saw real war service until put down and out by no less than eight wounds. He received three machine gun bullets through the stomach, one through the leg, while another penetrated his ankle. In addition to this shower of machine gun bullets he also received a shrapnel wound in the back, the piece of shell also driving a portion of barbed wire into his back. He spent many weary weeks in hospitals but thanks to skillful surgery, careful nursing, an iron constitution and the American spirit to surmount all obstacles "Hank" fooled them all and arrived home in fine shape.

FOR ALIEN SOLDIERS

Department of Commerce and Labor will be here and all alien soldiers should take advantage of this opportunity to secure citizenship.
